

YOUR GUIDE TO SEX AND RELATIONSHIPS

WHAT MAKES A HEALTHY RELATIONSHIP?

A healthy relationship is a relationship where you feel safe, valued and able to be yourself.

Honesty

Letting someone know how you feel, what you would like and if something is bothering you is important for a healthy relationship.

Communication

There are lots of different ways to communicate, like talking, body language and actions. Take time to listen to each other.

Compromise

It's okay not to agree on everything. Compromise means finding something that works for you both.

Being Equals

Nobody should be "in charge" in a healthy relationship. Being equals means making decisions together and respecting each other's thoughts and feelings.

Respect

Everyone has different opinions but you should never be treated badly for your thoughts, feelings or the things you like.

Trust and Support

Trust feels different to everyone, but being able to talk openly, to ask for help if you need it and to feel physically safe when you are together are all signs of a healthy relationship.

DID YOU KNOW?

Controlling behaviour within relationships is illegal. This could include someone saying who you can/ can't see, what you can or can't wear or behaviour which makes you feel frightened.

If you experience this you can speak to the Police (Non-emergency: 101 or in an emergency: 999) or any of the services listed in the back of this booklet.

You are entitled to a relationship free from abuse

You should never feel pressured into having sex

You have the right to change your mind

All sexual contact must be consensual

You are entitled to a happy
and healthy relationship
regardless of your sexuality
or gender identity

There are people you can talk to for support

CONSENT AND THE LAW

When we talk about consent to sex, this means someone agreeing to sexual activity. Consent needs to be given for each sexual act. You should never be pressured to consent if you don't feel comfortable.

SIGNS SOMEONE IS CONSENTING

- They look happy and are saying yes
- They are happy to touch you and to be touched

SIGNS SOMEONE MIGHT NOT BE CONSENTING

- Their body freezes up
- They go quiet
- They're saying "maybe" or "I'm not sure"

A PERSON CANNOT CONSENT IF:

- They are too drunk or high (from alcohol or drugs) to understand or to agree to what is happening
- They feel pressured or threatened into saying yes
- They don't understand what they're agreeing to

NEVER ASSUME THAT SOMEONE WANTS SEX
BASED ON...

WHAT THEY'RE WEARING

IF YOU THINK THEY'RE BEING FRIENDLY WITH YOU

IF SOMEONE SAYS
'NO' OR 'STOP',
YOU MUST STOP
IMMEDIATELY

THE POLICE MAY CONSIDER IT TO BE A CRIMINAL OFFENCE IF YOU...

- Have sex with someone who is too drunk or high to understand what is happening
- Make someone have sex if they don't want to, even if you're in a relationship
- Send sexual messages to someone under 16
- Take, share or keep sexual images of someone under 18 (even if they are of you)
- Have sex with someone under 18 if you're in a position of trust (e.g. teacher, sports coach, carer)

16

In the UK, the legal age of consent for sexual activity is 16.

The law is designed to protect young people from abuse by adults. It is not meant to criminalise people under 16 who are having sex, who are both a similar age. You can talk to our sexual health team in confidence.

Sexual activity with a child under 13 is considered a very serious offence.

SEXUAL EXPLOITATION is a form of sexual abuse..It is when a person is pressured or tricked into having sexual contact in return for something they need or want. It can be difficult to spot because often the people it's happening to feel like they are in a loving relationship. Exploitation can affect anybody of any age or gender.

RAPE is penetration with a penis without consent or with a child under 13.

SEXUAL ASSAULT is sexual touching without consent. This includes penetration with fingers or an object.

Rape and sexual assault are both illegal and carry prison sentences.
